October 18-19, 2014 , AKC Fall Hunt Test, Hiwassee Refuge, Birchwood, TN 8:00 AM

ETRC will hold the 2014 AKC Fall Hunt Test on Saturday and Sunday, October 18-19 at the Hiwassee Refuge, Blythe's Ferry WMA, in Birchwood, TN courtesy of the TWRA's area manager, Jason Jackson. The event will be a single Master, and double Junior and Senior. The AKC approved our application this week for the location and date of the AKC Hunt Test. Final approval and opening of entries will be completed when the judges have been committed. Due to the 2015 Master National being held in Cheraw, South Carolina next year the Master entries are astronomical. Beginning in September on Labor Day and thereafter each week there are double Masters stakes with 120 to 180 dog limits being held. On Entry Express there are five clubs already closed in September and October totally filled both days of the double Master. The Master stakes have taken over the whole event with very small entries in Junior and Senior. Home clubs are having their own members not being able to enter their personal Master dogs before the 120 and 180 limits are filled. The ETRC board voted to have a 60 dog limit and a single Master stake due to our date of October 18-19 coinciding with the 2014 Master National in California. The ETRC event is not approved to open entries on Entry Express until a opening date can be decided upon.
